Try this at home:

Pudding Finger Paint

Materials you will need:

2 containers, 2 food coloring colors, vanilla pudding

What to do:

Put some vanilla pudding into each container, then mix a little food coloring in. Put some of each pudding color on a tray and let your child finger paint, mix the colors and see what happens. Feels nice and tastes yummy!!

(You can also put two colors in a zip lock, squish them together to make a new color, then get out a spoon.)

Cream of Tartar Playdough Recipe

Ingredients:

2 cups of plain flour

2 cups of water

1 Tbsp. of cooking oil

1 tsp. cream of tartar

1 cup of salt

Directions: Place all of the ingredients in a medium size or large pan. Cook slowly on medium-high and stir it until the playdough thickens. Keeps best in the fridge in plastic containers. This recipe takes less than 10 minutes.

Food coloring can be added to the water when mixing the playdough, or for more fun, leave the playdough white and put a few dots of food color into a ball of the finished dough. Knead it to make the color appear. Knead together two balls of primary colored dough to get a secondary color!

Jumping Into Fall!

In the fall, all the leaves fall down — (wiggle fingers down to floor)
Orange, yellow, red and brown.

I pile them up as neat as a pin.

(make a gathering motion)

Then I run

(run in place)

And jump right in!

(jump up, then sit down)
